Child and family learning profile

Child / identifier; birth date; enrollment date; key educator

Strengths, interests and preferred communication / home languages

Family priorities and perspective · date / consent for sharing

Useful interaction, transition and access supports

Teaching information only. Keep medical, safeguarding and formal support records in approved systems. Do not require sensitive family disclosure.

Weekly invitations and environment

Week / dates; educator / group

Day	Child / small group	Purpose / observed interest	Invitation / prepare / adapt	Actual outcome / revisit
Monday
Tuesday
Wednesday
Thursday
Friday

Keep available: familiar play, care, outdoor and communication opportunities

Family perspective / environment changes / follow-ups

A planned invitation is not a completed observation. Protect care, repetition and child choice.

Individual activity / interaction plan

Child / small group; date; educator; activity ID / pathway / area

Why now? Actual interest / prior observation / family perspective

Purpose, materials, care and safety review, access supports

How the adult may respond, model or step back

What to observe; possible next opportunity if useful

Dated observation

Child / identifier; date; recorder; activity / real routine

What was actually seen or heard? Include context and a short quote if useful.

Adult support / access / co-regulation actually provided

Child’s response, choices and repeated interests

Working question or possible next opportunity · separate from facts

No permanent mastery labels, character judgments or diagnoses. Responsive support is not failure.

Weekly team reflection

Date / educators / pathway or group

What interests and strengths were observed?

Whose participation, language or family voice needs better access?

What support helped? What should be changed or stopped?

A manageable next invitation; environment/safety check; responsibility

Backup / records review completed; next review date

Family conversation and transition

Child / date / authorized participants

A factual strength or meaningful work sample

Family perspective and child’s own voice

Useful supports and one shared next opportunity

What may be shared, with whom, and by which approved route?

This form supports learning conversations. It does not replace required consent, health, incident, safeguarding or formal referral records.
